From exotic tiles to dramatic vistas, these posh pools are a salute to sybaritic style

1 At the Southampton, New York, home of Reed Krakoff, president and executive creative director of Coach, a renovated 1970s cabana is a chic adjunct to a pool bordered with bluestone; the chaise longues have custom-made cushions upholstered in Sunbrella fabric trimmed with grosgrain. 2 A simple deck of sun-bleached ipê wood echoes the minimalist lines of this modern Ibiza home, designed by Paris architect Pascal Cheik Djavadi. 3 Banked by a shaded terrace, an infinity pool extends seamlessly toward the Aegean Sea at the Mykonos home of Greek furniture impresario John Deloudis; rattan-and-wire chairs designed by Kenneth Cobonpue take in the view. 4 For the pool area of a house in Bordeaux, decorator Joanne de Lépinay fashioned a Zen-calm space complete with feathery bamboo, jade-green ceramic pots, and a regal platform daybed from which to survey the scene; a strategically placed mirror reflects the splendor. ▷
